

Alliance Pro

Manage administrative tasks, maximize customer service, increase productivity, and improve bottom line results

Without proper back office systems, your fleet will struggle to optimize productivity and maximize customer satisfaction due to a lack of organization and visualization of assets. Fleets need a customizable backend management system that will allow them to take control of their financial future. In order to make your fleet's rapidly expanding business operate more smoothly, you need the Alliance Pro software to provide your fleet with the freedom to handle all the back office aspects of the business.

With Alliance Pro, fleets are able to better control their rapidly growing business through the use of customizable management reporting, billing, rating, and paperwork imaging modules, along with interfaces to preferred accounting packages and seamless integration with major load providers. All of these features will help fleets manage administrative tasks, maximize customer service, and increase productivity to improve bottom line results.

With Alliance Pro, fleets can:

- Maximize customer satisfaction
- Increase back office productivity
- Save money by avoiding hardware cost
- Improve cash flow efficiency
- Create robust financial and payroll reports
- Operate efficiently with less paper, effort, searching, and calls

The Alliance Pro system provides fleets of all sizes with a back office system that allows fleets to rate, bill, report, and provide driver settlements. These back office capabilities simplify what would normally be time-consuming tasks, allowing fleets to focus on their customers and building their business. Hundreds of built-in reports, that can be customizable if required, allow fleets to house all their financial information in one place, to help make fleets more efficient.

With rating, invoicing, and emailing capabilities, fleets can easily bill clients with a paperless process. Automated driver settlements, deductions, and pay sheets make communicating pay information to the drivers simple. With a number of optional modules, ranging from bid boards to paperwork imaging to the customer portal, fleets truly have every tool they will need to effectively manage all aspects of their transportation company. With all of these tools in place, fleets will be able to efficiently run their business so that they can maximize customer satisfaction and continue to expand.
